Third Street, New Cumberland

History:

R. B. Hobaugh ("Hobaugh Electric") was founded in 1921 by Raymond B. Hobaugh, Sr. as an electrical contractor primarily working in residential areas and was known as Lemoyne's "town electrician." He also did electric appliance repair at his business located on Third Street in New Cumberland. During that time, Hobaugh Electric sold light fixtures, small appliances, and electric hardware. A significant market break-through came with a contract to install and rewire traffic signals in the area.

Founder:
Raymond B. ("Sparky") Hobaugh, Sr.

In 1945, after serving in the US Army, Raymond B. Hobaugh, Jr. joined the business and it continued as R. B. Hobaugh & Son. During this time, the sale of electric appliances was discontinued. In 1980, the business was purchased from the Estate of R. B. Hobaugh, Jr. by his daughter and son-in-law, Landis ("Tuck") and Catherine ("Cathy") Sholly. The business was formally incorporated as R. B. Hobaugh & Son, Inc.

Hobaugh Electric's primary focus became, and is, in the residential/commercial service and commercial construction and repair industries. Hobaugh Electric has established an 80+ year outstanding reputation for quality and on-time performance and provides electric contracting service on a time-and-material and on a fixed cost project basis.

2nd Generation Owners:
Raymond Jr. and Mary Jane
Hobaugh

Currently, the transition to the fourth generation is in process with active management roles being performed by Trisha and Marc Casner, the Sholly's daughter and son-in-law. Trisha is the General Manager and Marc is the Master Electrician & Estimator.
